

There is no reason not for XM radio to have traffic and weather available on their stations. This is a payed service just like any other system currently being used by consumers. It's just like having cable and being able to watch CNN. You can't watch that stations when you have just the antenna on your TV.